

CONVICTIONS FOR GUILTY AND JUSTICE FOR INNOCENT URGED

Citizens and Commerce Chamber Members Unite in Endorsing Moral Cleanup of City and County, as Well as Financial Program of Chamber for 1918; Aid of Government Health Service Suggested.

SERVICES of good citizens on Jan. 3 in order to secure convictions for the guilty and justice for the innocent, was one of the principal matters considered at a mass meeting of citizens and members of the chamber of commerce held Wednesday evening, at which the cleanup program of the city and county officials was endorsed, and the budget fund campaign for the coming year approved and launched.

Campaign Starts for 1918

The budget fund campaign to secure $12,500 was started Wednesday morning, following a meeting of the budget fund committee in the city hall.

At 10 o'clock Thursday reports to members of the committee were to the effect that the campaign had started with a big boom and business men were adding heartily to the work and subscribing liberally. Members of the committee included E. L. Farnsworth, H. M. Andrews, G. C. Cole, Maurice Schwartz and George H. Ryan and Secretary George H. Ryan.

The meeting was called to order by John H. Wyatt, president of the chamber, who said the objects of the meeting were the endorsement of the cleanup campaign, the raising of funds necessary to carry on the work of the chamber of commerce for the coming year.

Secretary George H. Ryan then read a detailed report of the receipts and expenditures in the budget fund, showing that a total of $12,500 had been received and a total of $44,000 expended, leaving a balance of $12,500.

Mayor Dennis Swenson's advice.

A question of "personal privilege" was the first matter that Mayor Den-

First Subscribers Pay For The Entire Year

The Mendenhall-Dunne-Ryan company was the first subscriber to the chamber of commerce budget fund for 1918. This firm subscribed $100 and sent in a check for the amount in full Thursday morning, being the first subscriber and the first to pay.

They to hunt down crime, instead of spending that money for conventions was the suggestion made by J. Schwartz, who spoke next. He advocated the raising of a large budget fund, and the spending of it in El Paso.

Best Place to Live. S. S. "Our first duty is to win the war," declared Judge S. J. Isaacks. "We know if the war department does not know it, El Paso is the best place in the United States. We can't help the same storms, but we can help the moral conditions and we ought to induce the city administration in its efforts to clean up the city."

That he did not believe in endorsing the invasion of the house of a captain and the shooting of the officer by the police.

Says Don't Endorse Shooting. "Let us tell Washington that we don't endorse the action of the police in going to the home of a captain and trying to take his life," the speaker declared.

He then took up the question of footlocking, which he declared was a harder case.

Are we willing to take the step that the government wants us to take? Judge Isaacks exclaimed. "The bootlocking is a supply of liquor from a liquor dealer. If the people of El Paso have the courage to do it they have only to refuse to issue licenses to liquor dealers and the source of which their complaint will cease to exist."

Judge Isaacks declared emphatically that a petition could be started tomorrow and an election called in 30 days and the saloons put out immediately. But he added: "Now, gentlemen, you won't do it."

A voice from the audience interrupted, "I will sign it."

Thank you, Judge Isaacks replied. He said that when the petition was sent to the governor he would send the saloons from its original purpose for a time.

Threatens Purpose of Meeting. The introduction of the prohibition issue into the meeting by Judge Isaacks threatened to turn it into a political campaign for a time, and the next few talks were postponed with that issue.

J. A. Smith declared that it was the intention of officers that was the worst thing. He declared that in his experience in the west he had never carried a gun. Mr. Smith told of how an officer had beaten up a man once and how The Herald had criticized the act.

J. P. Putnam declared that he did not know that prohibition was the right remedy as suggested by Judge Isaacks, but he stated that if it was a last resort it could come. "We ought to clean up the town for our children without hope of reward," he said.

Dr. Paul Gallacher, first lieutenant medical reserve corps, urged that the cleanup campaign be permanent, thus showing the right spirit of the cleanup.

Stands Up for Licensed Dealers. A plea against the injection of the "prohibition" question into "cleanup" and "interfere with the cleanup" campaign was made by Julius Krass, who declared that the honor of the bootlocking came from the licensed dealers, but from the national clubs. He declared that legitimate liquor dealers who had paid their licenses were trying to observe the law.

At this point several voices from the audience, dissatisfied from this view, expressed their opinion. Mr. Krassauer, at different points in his speech however.

Judge Isaacks then declared any intention of advocating that the chamber of commerce enter a prohibition fight, and stated that he merely suggested what remedy could be adopted in order to clear out the bootlocking.

McNary Advocates Resolution. The adoption of a resolution pledging support of the chamber of commerce and the cleanup campaign, the support of the chamber of commerce in efforts to have the budget fund, the making of an appropriation for the enforcement of law and order, and the pledging of service as jurors, were advocated by James G. McNary.

Mr. Wyatt appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. McNary, Bassett and Putnam to draw up the resolutions.

Takes Shot at City Commission. While the committee was out, Ralph Martin Ziegler made an attack on the functions of the city police commission, stating that it interfered with the enforcement of authority.

Talk called forth a reply from Mr. Wyatt, chairman of the police commission, who had left the chair, calling vice president H. L. Farnsworth to his place. He denied that the police commission had any function except to examine police officers and hold hearings. He stated that the manual of regulations was adopted after those of the big cities.

The committee then reported three resolutions, which were moved by J. A. Smith and seconded by Robert Krassauer.

Brings Up Jury Duty. Mr. Ziegler offered a resolution that the citizens of El Paso county, by signatures attached, signify their intention to make an effort to escape jury duty under the new law.

After the objection had been made and it was evident that the matter was some legal points involved, Mr. Bassett withdrew the resolution and asked that the committee present a motion to adjourn the meeting to a later date, which was done.

The chairman of the budget fund committee and expenditures read by Mr. Farnsworth, for the past year follows:

Give The Stomach A Chance To Work

We can't expect the stomach to act normally if the natural avenues of elimination are blocked so it cannot dispose of its refuse. When the bowels are constipated the stomach is called upon for work beyond its capacity and the result is black, belching, headache, and discomfort generally, and unless the condition is promptly relieved, serious illness.

An effective remedy for constipation is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in a gentle, natural manner, without griping or other pain or discomfort, affording speedy relief. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it in the house when you need it. It costs only fifty cents and is the ideal family remedy, mild enough for children and old people, yet sufficiently powerful for the strongest constitution. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 414 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
